SIR,

In continuation of Army Department letter No. 7227, dated the 1st June 1918, on the subject of man-power and the increase of the strength of the Indian Army, I am directed to observe that, in many instances, Europeans employed in commercial pursuits in towns other than Presidency towns, represent firms, banks or companies whose headquarters are located in the latter towns, and outside the sphere of the activities of the local man-power committee. In most cases therefore it would not be possible for that committee to report on the extent to which a particular firm or company could dispense with the services of the local man or men without closing down the local branch.

2. It would, therefore, appear to be more convenient for the committee within whose area of enquiry the Presidency town is situated to report on the operations of such firms as a whole, including all their branches in India or Burma. The firm might be required to submit a list of all Europeans employed by it in order that the committee may arrive at a decision on the points outlined in the Army Department letter cited above.

3. I am accordingly to request that this suggestion may receive due consideration.

SIR,

S i r,

With reference to your letter No.G.2307/P. 27-18-2 dated 30th July 1918, forwarding copy of Government of India Army Department letter No.7227 dated the 1st June 1918, in the matter of increasing the strength of the Indian Army, I have the honor to state that I have consulted the Kolar Gold Field Mining Board and the Planters' Associations on the subject. Though the Mining Board have all along been given to understand that the production of gold is essential to the prosecution of the War, still they have from time to time, encouraged as many of their staff as possible to join the Army both at Home and in India. A large number of the Subordinate staff on the Mines have also enlisted in the Army in one capacity or another. I am informed that if the output of gold is to be maintained, the Mines are not in a position at present to spare more men than those enumerated in the accompanying list unless the Military Authorities can offer them perfectly reliable discharged soldiers to take the place of those others holding positions of trust, who might be suitable for Military Service. It will be seen from the list that a number of these men have already applied for commissions in the I.A.R.O. etc.. in response to the recent call for men. In my opinion, there is very great force in the views expressed by the Mining Board, and considering that the Gold Mining industry is one of national importance. they can hardly be expected to again respond to the [redacted] call beyond what they have now found possible to do

2. As regards the Planters' Associations, I find there are 36 European gentlemen, and though they have not given me the information I wanted them to furnish, I understand they are all managing their estates singly, and it is difficult for these gentlemen-several of them being over 50 years of age-to join the Army leaving their extensive estates to be neglected.

3. In regard to the Electrical Department, all the 16 employees are Eurasians except Mr. J.V.E. Tate, Chief Line Inspector. The Chief Electrical Engineer writes to me that if all of them or a considerable number of these were to be mobilised, the work of carrying on the supply of electric power would be seriously handicapped. I do not think therefore that it is advisable to interfere with them considering the importance of the lighting of Bangalore, besides supplying power to the Kolar Gold Field.

4. I have not yet heard from the Deputy Commissioners of Districts with the exception of Shimoga, as regards the European British subjects in their Districts, who are, however, very few. I have wired to them for the information yesterday, and as soon as I get their replies, I shall submit a further report on the subject.

5. The lists of names as received up till now accompany this report, along with the letter received with the Communication under reference.

THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF DELHI.

SIR,

I am directed to state, for the information of ~~His Excellency the Governor-in-Council~~ / ~~His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council~~ / ~~His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor~~ your information that, as a result of the recent Delhi Conference, the Government of India have under consideration measures for increasing the armed forces of India to the utmost possible extent, in order to enable this country to exert its whole strength in the cause of the Empire. It is the intention of the Government of India to make a very large increase in the strength of the Indian Army during the coming year, and it is on the subject of the closely connected problem of obtaining additional numbers of British officers and subordinates, proportionate to the increase contemplated in the Indian ranks, that I am now especially to address you.

2. The Government of India believe that, apart from the Imperial and Provincial Services which have already contributed so largely to the increase in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers, there are still many Europeans of military age in India employed in commercial firms, and other business concerns, or earning their living as journalists, brokers, lawyers, etc., occupations which cannot be classed as essential war industries; many gentlemen of these classes would be suitable for service as officers or subordinates in either the combatant or the non-combatant branches of the Indian Army. At the present time the development of man-power is the paramount consideration, and commercial interests, not directly and immediately essential for the prosecution of the war, may be regarded as of secondary importance.

3. I am accordingly to request that the whole question of European man-power may be examined by the Local Government / by you and that the Government of India may be favoured with the views of His Excellency the Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor / your views, as soon as possible. In several provinces the local Government will have the assistance of Chambers of Commerce, Trades Associations and the Provincial Controllers of Munitions, in framing proposals; and the Government of India will be glad to arrange for the services of military officers who could furnish information to the local Government regarding the trades and occupations of those already registered in connection with the Indian Defence Force. I am to suggest that the assembly of Committees, composed of members representing the various interests above mentioned, and any others whose advice would be of value, would facilitate the task of arriving at a reliable estimate of the numbers of Europeans that could be furnished for service in the Indian Army, either as officers or subordinates, without injury to essential industries.

4. It is difficult to give a complete list of occupations, industries or trades which can be considered non-essential for the prosecution of the war, and the question must, in a large measure, be left to the decision of the local Committees. The Government of India are, however, of opinion that the number of Europeans of military age employed as actors, musicians, shop assistants, hair dressers, etc., or engaged in trade as tailors, drapers, furniture makers, jewellers, photographers, booksellers, music sellers, art dealers, carpet dealers and many other occupations of the same nature, could be reduced without difficulty and their places taken by women to a larger extent than is the case at present. A further question for consideration will be whether "one-man" firms can be regarded as essential at the present time and whether firms of this nature could not either be closed down altogether or combined with others.

5. The Government of India leave these and other analogous questions for the consideration of the local Government / your consideration with the confident expectation that no means will be spared to make available as many European gentlemen as possible for service with the Army.

6. I am to enclose for purposes of reference —

(a) a statement containing terms of service in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers;

(b) a sample application duly completed for a commission in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers, and

(c) a statement giving information regarding the terms of service for British subordinates and the nature of the employment for which men of this class are required.
